As a central player in the intellectual environment at The University of Hong Kong, the Libraries will be recognized on campus, regionally and internationally for its outstanding collections, client-centred services and innovative approaches that contribute to the teaching and learning, research and knowledge exchange pursuits of the University.
The ongoing and evolving digital information environment, price increases and expanding scholarly programmes within the University continue to place pressure on the library and its ability to "ensure access to a rich and diverse base of resources". Our total expenditure on digital resources rose to 87% of our library materials expenditure with 58% spent on electronic journals, 22% on databases and 7% on e-book collections. The most significant change in this dynamic was the increased spending on e-books, which rose from 4% to 7% of the total library resources budget. Reciprocally, our print collections spending continued to decline.
As most of our e-book collections are made accessible through demand-driven or evidence-based acquisition models, which provides for the acquisition of a particular title after that title has been used a specified number of times, we have greater confidence in the utility and value of these collections. This means that for most of our e-book collections we have 100% demonstrated use, which provides a significant improvement over the use of print monographs which our studies have shown that typical use lies between 30-40% depending on the discipline. This e-book phenomenon also assumes responsibility for the decline in loans of print, which annually declines by around 10%. Correspondingly, interlibrary loan requests for print materials continues to decline by a similar figure. Conversely, the use of electronic resources across the board continues to annually rise.

We continued to enhance our institutional repository, the Scholars Hub with the introduction of almost 700 researches pages for Research Postgraduate (RPG) students. These pages serve to enhance the visibility of our RPG students, their activities and to foster research collaboration. Each page includes information about the student’s field of study, publications, conferences attended, academic awards, and, other relevant intellectual information. Closely aligned with the creation of these pages is the introduction of research data management (RDM) services. This new area of research information support provides a challenge to the Library but is well supported by the University’s Policy on the Management of Research Data and Records, which is being introduced progressively in the coming years.

Much of the year saw a large number of library staff preparing to move to a new Integrated Library System (ILS). The Libraries existing ILS, Millennium, being no longer under active development by Innovative Interfaces, Inc., would become increasingly outdated. In place in all but one of the eight Joint University Librarians Advisory Committee (JULAC) libraries of the UGC, Millenium’s status provided JULAC with the motivation to explore the possibility of identifying a shared system across the 8 institutions. As a result of this, the 8 libraries developed a joint proposal for a shared ILS and the tender, led by HKU, was awarded to ExLibris for their Alma system and Primo discovery layer. At present all eight institutions manage their own ILS independently. Efficiencies to be gained across the 8 institutions will be significant through a centrally managed system that will be cloud based. A shared system deployment has the potential to enable an even deeper collaborative relationship among the JULAC member libraries. The system is scheduled to go live in July 2017.
Finally, plans for significant renovations were well underway for the Main and Yu Chun Keung Medical Libraries. The Main Library will see a revitalized ground floor accommodating a variety of learning spaces, discussion rooms, a special collections room and the “Think Tank”, a single study area focusing on deep quiet. Additionally, the 2nd floor will see a range of improvements including an ideas corner, an innovation centre and revitalized special education needs (SEN) rooms and facilities. The Yu Chun Keung Medical Library will be enhanced with a 24 hour study facility plus new collaborative study rooms, an exhibition area and general environmental improvements.

We enjoyed an extremely busy year. This report provides evidence of that and highlights the variety of activities that have been undertaken.

In order to advance our Vision and Mission, our activities are founded upon five strategic objectives that will form the basis of our strategic direction, 2015-2020, for the coming four years. Keeping in view with the University’s 3+1 Is, Internationalism, Innovation, Interdisciplinarity leading to Impact.
Resources
Ensure access to a rich and diverse base of resources that serve to enhance the University’s endeavours

Collection Development

In 2016/17, the Libraries injected an eight percent increase to the overall Library Resources Fund to keep up with cost increases and growth in the university’s new curriculum and research areas. The increase, based on a pricing forecast of 6% rise in the cost of digital and serials contents in 2017, was deemed adequate to fulfil new digital resources needs, including the new databases that were budgeted and prioritized for purchase during the year. The increase also factored in a monographs base budget increase of 10% across the board over the previous year’s monographs budget. The support for digital serials resources was capped at 80% to provide sufficient needs for monograph-based disciplines. Total expenditures on digital resources increased to 87%, with 58% spent on electronic journals, 22% on databases and 7% on e-book collections.

E-books spending increased significantly during the reporting year from 4% to 7% of the total library resources budget, while print collections spending continued to decline. Most e-book collections are made accessible through demand-driven or evidence-based acquisition models, which allow unlimited access, printing, chapter download and interlibrary loan, with payment and retention required after a title has been used a specified number of times. This progressive mode of acquisitions enables the Libraries to build the collection using a sustainable strategy by acquiring materials based on patron experience, purchasing titles that are used rather than in complete volumes packages and reducing approval procedures. New programs and research support continued to drive decisions in subscribing to new digital resources.

A task force in the Lending Services Division (LSD) planned and conducted a pilot project of RFID stock taking for materials in the Fung Ping Shan Library from December 2016 to January 2017. As the stock taking process will involve record amendment in the library system, a full scale project will take place after the operations of the new Integrated Library System (ILS) are thoroughly tested and stabilised.

The Information Services Division’s Arts and Architecture Faculties Librarian collaborated with Faculty members of Korean Studies in facilitating the successful application for a grant of USD4,250 towards the subscription of two Korean Studies databases under the Support for Korean Studies e-resources programme. The librarian also worked with the Faculty members in the selection of book titles donated by the Korea Foundation to strengthen the collection and support Korean Studies.

The Science and Engineering Faculties Librarian coordinated the subscription renewal of INSPEC, a principal indexing database of scientific and technical literature, from the Ovid platform to Web of Science, which offers enhanced bibliometric features, such as times cited and usage count.

Special Collections expanded the Hong Kong Collection by 2,681 volumes (2%) in monographs and 1,683 bound volumes (3%) of periodicals including newspapers.
At the Branches
The Education Library continued to strengthen the breadth and depth of its collections to support the teaching and research of the Faculty of Education. The Library purchased Education in Video: Volume II to enrich the online video collection and to fulfill the demands of different divisions. Fifteen examination paper and mark scheme packs for the International Baccalaureate (IB) programme were added to enhance the examination papers and syllabus collection.

Collection Management
Relegation and weeding projects is an ongoing undertaking for Library divisions and branches. Relocating collections for easier access, transferring low usage materials to the Hing Wai storage facilities, disposing of obsolete collections or aligning with the Library’s new Rare Book policy all lead to space for new collections but mostly space for new facilities arrangements to support library patron’s physical, learning and studying needs.

- Relegation: 93,734 volumes
- Weeding: 45,121 volumes
- Volumes shipped to collaborative institutions: 33,409
- Shelves removed: 481 bays

Operational Priorities, Projects and Progress
In order to provide better care for collections and faster turnaround for repair of slightly damaged books, the libraries started a programme of quick repairs. Preservation and Conservation staff work with colleagues from various departments to pre-sort damaged books. After a short training session with preservation specialists, and with the aid of visual guidelines, library staff in branches and different divisions can identify damaged items suitable for quick repairs. The items are then repaired on site reducing the time and resources needed to send them to and from the Preservation Centre at Hing Wai. In practice, the Preservation staff bring a travelling repair kit and work with colleagues from other Library divisions to perform the repairs. This cross-training and collaboration lead to longer lasting and more accessible collections.

The Technical Support Services division launched the Hong Kong Image Database in October 2016 and are currently working on the soon to be released Hong Kong Newspaper Clippings Online database.
Services

Provide services that support the full range of the University’s activities and facilitate patron independence.

Research Support

- FIND@HKUL
  In preparing for the launch of FIND@HKUL, the Branches and Information Services Division rallied their combined efforts to perform several rounds of testing for front-end configuration. Branch and Faculty Librarians also invited staff and students for a usability test in May 2017, gaining much insight into patron’s search behaviour. In facilitating patrons to familiarise with this new search tool, the Information Services Division put up a visually compelling infographic for the landing page, the front door of FIND@HKUL. A quick guide highlighting features and tips was also produced to assist with the transition to the new search tool. Further testing and enhancements of the front end will continue after the Go-Live date.

- RPG Hub
  In April 2017, the Research Postgraduates (RPG) pages were launched as part of the Scholars Hub. These pages aim to enhance the visibility of RPG students and foster research collaboration. Each page includes information about the student’s field of study, publications, conferences attended, academic awards, and other relevant intellectual information. The first phase involved 654 new RPG student admitted between 1 July 2016 to 31 January 2017.

  http://hub.hku.hk/advanced-search?location=crisrpg

- Research Data
  Considerable progress was achieved in establishing the framework for research data management (RDM) at HKU. While the RDM website provides an informative resource, internal staff training has been arranged for Branch and Faculty Librarians facilitating their support to researchers when the new policy comes into effect. For more details, please visit the HKU RDM web site at http://lib.hku.hk/researchdata/rds.htm

- Research Seminars
  Strategies to improve citations and h-index by Professor Nagendra P. Shah, School of Biological Sciences (27 September 2016).
  With Professor Shah as one of the Highly Cited Researchers, the seminar attracted over 150 HKU researchers gaining much insight on scholarly publishing.
  Other seminars of significance included:
  - Seminar on patents
  - IEEE Author Workshop and Training
  - Web of Science
  - Business databases including Web CEIC Data Manager - China Premium Databases, Hoover’s Online, SPEEDA, Capital IQ & SNL Financial, Orbis Bank Focus and Oriana
  - Scival, research management information and business intelligence training
  - Chinese Database Seminar on CNKI (中國知網)

- SEN Support
  This year, the Information Services Division handled 98 requests for reading materials in accessible format from SEN students.
Research Visibility

- Top 1% scientists exercise: During the reporting year, 111 HKU researchers were identified as Top 1% scientists with data drawn from the July 2016 update of Clarivate Analytics’ Essential Science Indicators. The information is publicised in the Scholars Hub and HKU’s First and Foremost, enhancing the visibility of HKU researchers.

- Citation Reports: In 2016-17, the Information Services Division compiled citation reports for four researchers in support of their award applications. The Science and Engineering Faculties Librarian also provided support in compiling citation reports for HKU Shenzhen Institute of Research and Innovation (HKU SIRI) and HKU Zhejiang Institute of Research and Innovation (HKU ZIRI).

Information Literacy

- Orientations and Workshops

  The Information Services Division and Branches continue to offer a broad spectrum of training programmes. This year, the Freshmen Orientation adopted an activity-based approach featuring interactions and game-based activities. Postgraduate Library Workshops and Endnote Workshops are well attended, as usual.

- Customized training

  In 2016-17, Faculty Librarians offered 67 customized training sessions on a broad range of subject areas aligning with unique research needs. These custom training sessions were spread across the Arts, Architecture, Business and Economics, Engineering, Science and Social Sciences.

- Small Private Online Courses (SPOCs)

  The Information Services Division collaborated on four SPOCs in offering a session on academic honesty. The SPOCs are part of the Course Enhancement Fund, a sub-project of the JULAC UGC-funded Information Literacy Project, which encourages Faculty-Librarian Partnership. The four partnerships include:

  - CCHU9001 Designs on the Future: Sustainability of the Built Environment
    - Mr M. R. Pryor, Division of Landscape Architecture
    - Ms Diana Tsui, Arts and Architecture Faculties Librarian

  - CCST9003 Everyday Computing and the Internet
    - Professor Ricky Kwok, Department of Electrical and Electronic Engineering
    - Ms Nancy Chan, Science and Engineering Faculties Librarian

  - CCHU9022 Journey into Madness: Conceptions of Mental Health and Mental Illness
    - Dr Paul W. C. Wong, Department of Social Work and Social Administration
    - Ms Tina Yang, Social Science Faculty Librarian
• Online course on Academic Honesty
  In collaboration with the Technology-Enriched Learning Initiative (TELI), the Libraries launched an online course on Academic Honesty in September 2016. The course includes a series of videos and formative assessment ranging from the importance of academic honesty to the practical tools and skills. The videos are available on YouTube.

At the Branches
As part of its faculty research support, the Law Library began an initiative to suggest some 50 law journal titles for inclusion in the Elsevier abstract and citation database, SCOPUS. At the time of writing, nine titles were accepted for inclusion by the SCOPUS’ Content Selection & Advisory Board. With expanded coverage of journals in which HKU scholars have published, it is expected that the research visibility and citation impact of HKU publications will be enhanced in the research community.

The Medical Library created a new course for all postgraduate library workshops by combining hitherto separate literature searches and Endnote classes into one convenient workshop. The new course matches the natural research behaviour of students and helps to reduce class time. New tailor-made library courses were also created for Master of Medical Sciences and HKU SPACE Higher Diploma in General Nursing [Enrolled Nurses] students.

Contents and mode of delivery of Medical Library workshops for all five undergraduate degrees were standardized, especially those for Chinese medicine, to include the same contents though with course specific examples/topics. And as the library acquire more and more medical resources designed for mobile use, the Medical Library created instruction guides on setting up mobile apps for three newly acquired resources.
Partnerships and Collaborations

The Education Library has been working in close collaboration with the Faculty to provide venues for faculty activities, including:

• Video production by Educational Television (ETV) about Territory-wide System Assessment (TSA) interviewing Professor Tse Shek Kam of the Faculty of Education, 21 December 2016.
• University Outstanding Teaching Award 2016 interview with Professor David Carless, 16 February 2017.
• The Division of English Language Education Retreat, 8 June 2017.

In collaboration with the Department of Music, the Music Library developed a website to help deliver information literacy (IL) content to support the course on “Music of China” taught by Professor Chan Hing-yan (1st semester 2016-17). The website featured relevant sources available in the HKU Libraries and information related to Chinese music. A search box of Find@HKUL was embedded in the website to allow students to discover more library material on the same topic. The website was considered as an experimental tool to deliver new IL content through an interactive platform and attractive interface. The website was embedded in the course’s Moodle site and is available in Music’s LibGuide. The project was funded by the Course Enhancement Fund under the UGC Teaching & Learning Project on Information Literacy, a joint project among the eight local academic libraries.

http://muslib.wixsite.com/music-of-china-1

The Libraries has been invited to take up the maintenance of Hong Kong Legal Information Institute (HKLII), an open access legal portal of the Law & Technology Centre of Faculty of Law. The Libraries and the Centre had worked closely over the past year to ensure the smooth migration of the portal to a new server for better performance and daily uploading of new judgments from the Judiciary. Search feature enhancements have also been made, such as timelier updating of parallel legal citations to judgments.

In the Information Services Division, our Business and Economics Librarian continued to provide monthly article reading list for MBA alumni through HKU MBA - Business Monthly email services.

In response to Faculty needs, the Library also offered the following tailor-made workshops in the 2016/17 report year:

• Two workshops on Chinese e-resources and plagiarism & copyright issues were offered to Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Education in Language Education (Chinese) students in October 2016.
• A workshop on advanced research skills, key e-resources, and plagiarism & copyright issues was offered to Master of Education [Teaching Chinese to Non-Chinese speaking Students] students on 18 October 2016.
• Three training sessions on e-resources and plagiarism & copyright issues were offered to undergraduate students from November to December 2016.

In collaboration with the Department of Music, the Music Library developed a website to help deliver information literacy (IL) content to support the course on “Music of China” taught by Professor Chan Hing-yan (1st semester 2016-17). Operational Priorities, Projects and Progress supporting the Libraries’ Services

• JULAC UGC-funded Information Literacy Project
  This three-year teaching and learning project involves collaboration among the eight UGC-funded libraries. The project kicked off in 2015, aims to enhance information literacy skills (IL) in Hong Kong higher education. In support of the project, the Libraries collaborated on the following:
  - Twenty-three medical students participated in the Research Readiness Self-Assessment Hong Kong (RRSA-HK) session conducted at the Medical Library
  - Development and implementation of a shared interactive multimedia courseware in the form of a MOOC course. As a sub-project of this IL project, HKUL librarians partnered with five faculty members using Course Enhancement Funds to enhance students’ IL standards

• Enhance support to meet the emerging needs of research postgraduates and young researchers (2015-2017): Recommendations were made by this Operational Priority (OP) team, and comments from the Library Executive Committee were heard, and follow-up actions have been or will be taken up by responsible parties.

• Taskforce for developing guidelines on handling patrons with behavioural/emotional problems. Drafted the guidelines endorsed by the Library’s Senior Management Committee. A sharing session will be organized by the Staff Committee in late August 2017 to help share and explain the guidelines and address enquiries on the actual implementation.

• After two years of extensive data collection through a survey, focus group meetings, and in-depth analysis of a large volume of documents about the usage and activities since 2012, the Review of Level 3 team submitted its final report in June 2017. The report reviewed Level 3’s services, equipment, facilities and usage, included the following key recommendations and detailed actions for improvement:
  - Regular and more structured maintenance schedules
  - Review and modify zoning of different activities to avoid conflicting use
  - Continue assessment of the facilities/services and more communication with users on environmental and maintenance issues
  - A more organized structure be established for the effective and efficient management as well as the long-term development of Level 3.

• Marketing the Libraries. After drafting a marketing framework plan in mid-2016, some activities were organized from July 2016 to May 2017 to test the responses for new marketing initiatives such as a photo booth, Dr Dog visits in Main and Law libraries, Centre for Sports and Exercise sessions, and candy canes with festive and reminder messages. The feedback from the participants were mostly positive and lessons learned were gained by the marketing team in preparation for similar activities in the future. A year-round marketing plan was finalized for implementation in 2017/18.

• The Libraries conducted a large-scale user survey in March 2017 three years after the last survey was organized in 2014. A gap analysis and top the ten comments were prepared by the taskforce for sharing with all stakeholders in Autumn 2017. The survey was conducted from 13-27 March and drew a response rate of just under 4,000.

Environments

Ensure inclusive and diverse physical and virtual environments that enable active, independent and collaborative learning.

Physical Environments

The physical environments at the Libraries have long been an area of concern for Library patrons as we continue to improve and enhance the collaboration, research, leisure reading, and private study environments. Several projects and studies were undertaken to identify areas that could address library patron’s needs. The completion of the Dental Library renovation project in April 2017 was just one of those projects. The project included the following works:

- Carpet replacement for the entire Dental Library
- Installation of eighty study carrels with dual-USB power sockets and power outlets
- Open Discussion Area was created with eight armchairs, two wooden benches, four coffee tables and one LED Signage TV
- AV equipment was upgraded in the discussion rooms including three whiteboards, three Blu-ray players, three HDTVs and one panel TV.
- Eighty-eight swivel chairs were added to the new study carrels and the AV Corner

Additional projects included:

- Twenty-five workstations in the Computer Room and the fast-track workstation in the Law Library have been upgraded for a better patron experience
- Upgrading the Special Educational Needs (SEN) equipment, software and furniture in Room 420 at the Main Library
- E-Learning Lab’s audio system and ventilation system were upgraded and improved

With every physical environment addition or modification, informative signage was created to support and guide patrons. Hardcopy and e-channel signage included:

- Collection relocation signage
- Instructional signage for compact shelving
- Directional signage
- Maintenance signage
- “Welcome Guide Dogs”
- “Security and Safety First”
- Environmental signage
- Reminder signage

With regards to the virtual environments at the Libraries, needs of the Library staff worked on new and upgraded initiatives to improve the needs of the remote library patron and streamline existing paper processes into online processes.

To improve the logistics of library orientations and tours, the Law Library experimented with a locally developed SmartCheckin system for use in orientations and tours organized for Bachelor of Laws (LLB) freshmen. This mobile system enabled library staff to effectively manage student attendance during events, for reporting, and follow up work with faculty.

Lending Services (LS) Division gathered data and began analysis on patron’s research experience in the Main Library for two pilot observation studies based on contemporary best practices of patron’s research experience in libraries. This research project, approved by the Human Research Ethics Committee (HREC), is intended to use qualitative research to learn more about our patron’s behaviour and can support service and learning space design.

In collaboration with OCLC Research (Online Computer Library Center), LS conducted the “digital visitors and residents” study [http://www.oclc.org/research/themes/user-studies/vandr.html] with seventy-four HKU community members including faculty, post-graduate students, undergraduate students, and library staff in September 2016. A direct comparison with UCLA community members, as well as background on the development of the study and its application internationally, was presented at the OCLC APAC meeting in Hong Kong in December 2016. Key findings included the preference for chat applications like WeChat and WhatsApp in Hong Kong, HKU students’ heavy reliance on cloud storage, and the mixed personal and institutional use of Facebook.
Organizational Culture

Nurture an organizational culture that equips staff with the skills required to support a dynamic research library in a rapidly changing environment.

The Library staff attended a wide range of training, workshops, and seminars to improve their job skills and IT competencies. Significant training was in preparation for the new Integrated Library System to be released in July 2017.

http://lib.hku.hk/newils/index.html

Additional training, workshops, and seminars:

IT and technical competencies
- Adobe Illustrator CS5, 4 & 18 July 2016
- Training Workshops on Using the Central Email and Calendar System (HKUCC1) on Microsoft Exchange 2013, 2 August 2016
- 2FA (2-Factor Authentication) Protection for HKU Portal, 30 November 2016
- Building Professional-looking Reports and Proposals, 18 April 2017

Job skills
- "Applying your Character Strengths in Teamwork" Workshop, 21 July 2016
- Workshop on Personal Data Protection and Security Measures, 8 November 2016
- ICAC Talk on "Prevention of Bribery Ordinance", 6 January 2017
- Zero Conflict Interactive Talk, 21 February 2017
- Workplace Speaking: Presenting Information (Skills-based), 23 & 30 March; 6, 20 & 27 April 2017
- Workshop on Conservation and Preservation of Books and Documents (HKU SPACE), 22 & 23 April 2017

Training and support to help complement library services included:
- A set of vade mecum notes for library staff to deliver excellent services
- A set of guidelines on handling patrons with behavioural and emotional problems
- A project to improve efficiency in handling requests for resources, disposal of equipment and furniture, and premises maintenance by adopting the ticketing system currently used by Technology Support Service
- A buddy system for new staff and recent transfers within the Libraries to assist colleagues in adjusting to new position and developing confidence

At the Branches
The Medical Library continued to collaborate with the Medical Ethics and Humanities Unit of the LKS Faculty of Medicine and the Centre on Behavioural Health of the Faculty of Social Sciences to display the Exhibition of Award-Winning Creative Artwork of MBBS1 Medical Humanities Programme.

One Piece at a Time: a music manuscript exhibition was held in the Music Library, 28 September – 26 October 2016. The manuscript was donated by Professor Daniel Chua, which is the second folio of Graduale Romanum, a collection of chants for Proper Parts of Mass of the Roman Liturgy in the late 16th & early 17th centuries. It is the first time that the Music Library received this kind of donation. This music manuscript not only enriches the treasures collected by the Libraries, but also broadens our eyes on music from the Medieval and Renaissance era. Details of the manuscript can be found at http://lib.hku.hk/muslib/notable_donation.html

A Gift in Kind ceremony was held on 28 September 2016 in the Library. Mr Peter Sidorko, University Librarian and Professor Daniel Chua, the donor and Chairperson of the Music Department imparted speeches to the audience, and Ms Jody Beenk, Head of the Library’s Preservation & Conservation Division spoke about the preservation of the music manuscript. Four members from the HKU Chamber Choir sang the piece during the opening ceremony.

The Art of Guqin, Chinese Calligraphy & Painting, co-organized by the Music Library with the Deyin Qin Society, Department of Music, and the Faculty of Arts was held on 27 October 2016.

Mr Sou Si-tai, the Chairman of the Deyin Qin Society, gave an engaging presentation and demonstration on brushwork used in the traditional Chinese calligraphy & painting. Mr Sou showed playing techniques on guqin, the seven-stringed zither. The audience was amazed to learn the similarities of two different Chinese cultural spheres. Mr Sou performed three well-known guqin pieces followed by a Q & A session. The talk was very well attended and enjoyed by all. To revisit the talk, go to https://youtu.be/hB2SmEKdNKA.

The Music Library and the Department of Music co-organized an evening of Singing in the Music Library on 19 April 2017. The event helped promote Music Library’s Scores Collection and to provide a performing stage for HKU students. Members of HKU Chamber Singers performed western classical vocal pieces by J.S. Bach, Richard Strauss and Mozart’s arias “sull’aria” from Le nozze di Figaro and “La ci darem la mano” from Don Giovanni. The Music Library acoustic surroundings lends itself perfectly to the performances. To replay the performance, visit https://youtu.be/0hfGEarf_1GU.
